Report Snapshot:-

In 2007, the combined sales of the Shopfitters identified reached just over £2.8 billion, an increase of around 4% since 2006 reflecting improved trading conditions following limited growth during 2006. Sources indicate that whilst there was some degree of positive performance in the market during the first half of 2008, declining consumer confidence and a number of key market influences resulted in a lacklustre second half of the year and a rapid slowdown in activity in Q3 and Q4 2008.

During mid-late 2008, non-food retail sales slowed substantially, leading to a growing trend of postponement or curtailment of Shopfitting projects, particularly within the non-commodity goods retail sector. As such, the market is expected to have remained relatively static during 2008 overall, with the year polarised between reasonable growth in activity in the first quarter and rapid decline in the last quarter.

The Shopfitting market remains highly dependent on the UK food retail sector in 2009, though the impact of the credit crisis in 2008 leading to recession has severely reduced the sector's appetite for store enhancement. With consumer confidence at particularly low ebb at present, sources indicate that large-scale store refurbishment and new openings have reduced dramatically in recent months, with this trend likely to continue for the remainder of 2009.

As such, the shopfitting industry is increasingly looking to other key end use sectors in order to sustain revenue as the retail sector falters in terms of income and therefore expenditure on store enhancement. In recent years, the industry has increasingly seen expenditure rise from the pubs and clubs sector of the market which has historically replaced revenue from the retail sector. However, this is unlikely to be replicated in 2009 / 2010 as new pub opening and refurbishment activity has also slowed rapidly in recent months, following a rapid decline in footfall in the pub industry overall.
